Explanatory notes on search results

We use an automated system for providing search responses. In order to provide the most complete response we will sometimes include records which although not identical, are very similar in name to the details searched. These possible matches are identified with an asterisk. It is the responsibility of the applicant to ascertain whether any record shown on a search response relates to the name searched.

Where a search of the Republic of Ireland register has been made there will be separate search results for registered judgments (ie those registered at the Dublin Four Courts) and unregistered judgments (ie those which have been collected directly from the circuit and district courts). This may mean that the same judgment is reported in both sections of the search result, although the details may differ due to updated information available at the subsequent registration at the Four Courts.

Name and Address details

The name and address shown on any entries revealed in the search is the name and address of the defendant, defender, respondent or offender as the case may be, that has been advised to us by the court.

Date of birth

There will only be a date in this field where one has been supplied by the court.

Court

This is the name of the court responsible for the case.

Case number

Where a reference number is available this is the reference by which the court may identify an individual case.

Date

A date in this column will normally refer to the date of the judgment, decree or order. However in the case of a fines default it refers to the date of conviction and in the case of a Republic of Ireland registered judgment it refers to the date the judgment was registered in the Four Courts at Dublin.

Amount

This is the amount which the court has ordered to be paid. It is not necessarily an indication of the debt balance currently outstanding.

Status column

Where an entry in the Status column is described as Unsatisfied it indicates the status of the case as at the time the search was made. It does not necessarily indicate that the debt is unpaid either in whole or in part, but if it is fully paid RTL has not been notified. In England and Wales or the Isle of Man, once a court has received evidence (or for Scotland, Jersey, Northern Ireland and Republic of Ireland this evidence has been delivered to ourselves) that a debt has been fully repaid, the entry on that Register can be updated. Where the status is shown as Satisfied it indicates that we have been advised that the debt has been fully repaid on the date shown.
